Obstetrics and Gynecology

Alison Hollis, DO

“Dr. Alison Hollis embodies the spirit of servant leadership. She has been a part of multiple changes within our department and has always sought to work for the betterment of our program. She is the first to volunteer to help and makes teaching a priority for her co-residents. She brings a positive energy and a professional attitude to everything that she does.”

“Dr. Hollis has now spent more than 3.5 years as a Resident in our Department. She communicates well with other healthcare providers and is able to teach students and junior residents in a way that helps them to learn without feeling demeaned. She has the full trust of nursing staff – many even choose to come to her as their provider. In an emergency, Dr. Hollis communicates well and gets members of a multi-professional team aligned for excellent patient care.”

“Dr. Hollis is an excellent listener. She listens with the intent of understanding. She has led many changes in our department based on her ability to understand diverse viewpoints and synthesize them into the best option for all.”

“She exemplifies the qualities found in the very best physicians. She empathizes with patients, documents her encounters carefully, and communicates well with others. “

“She is soberly devoted to medicine and to excellent patient outcomes. My only regret is that she will not be my partner when she graduates in June.”
