This year, with guidance from the American Orthopaedic Association's Council of Orthopaedic Residency Directors (CORD), our program has determined that it will offer in-person interviews. CORD supports in-person residency and fellowship interviews and supports programs' decisions about whether to hold in-person interviews or virtual interviews. In-person interviews offer students and programs the opportunity to learn about one another in a more complete manner. In-person interviews and visits to hospitals and the city allow applicants to better assess the program with the most available information possible, including imagining what five years of life in the geographic area would be like since that is a core element of a resident's wellness and well-being. In an effort to maintain a fair, equitable, and confidential interview process through the 2023-2024 recruitment season, we guarantee the following:

The UT College of Medicine - Chattanooga and our programs will neither record nor distribute any part of any interview conducted either in-person or on a virtual platform (e.g., Zoom). This includes screenshots, still photos, audio recording, and video recording and applies regardless of whether the state in which our institution is located requires only one-party consent.

Likewise, we ask that you, the applicant, agree to the same in order to preserve the integrity of the interview process. Please enter your name in the space below and sign confirm your understanding.
