

Policy on Student Classroom Activities

It is a guiding principle of the College of Dentistry that students attend class for the purpose gaining the knowledge and skills and developing the values necessary to practice dentistry. While in all didactic, laboratory, and clinical classes sessions, students are not to study or review other information that is not relevant to and electronic devices during class to assist in learning the specific topics presented. Any use of the UT Health Science Center computer network must be in compliance with the University of Tennessee's Information Technology Acceptable Use policy located at <https://uthsc.edu/its/standards.php>. Faculty members may prohibit the presence or use of any written media or any electronic device in any class if they believe that those items may be a distraction from the teaching and learning process. Violation of any of this policy will be considered unprofessional conduct and a breach of ethical standards, and may be reported as a Code of Conduct or Honor Code violation as indicated.
