ACADEMIC APPEAL PROCESS

Review Process for Disciplinary or Adverse Academic Actions

The University of Tennessee Health Science Center College of Medicine assures the resident the right to appeal any disciplinary or adverse academic action taken by the residency Program Director or institution that results in being placed on probation, dismissal, non-renewal of a resident’s agreement, extension, or non-promotion of a resident to the next level of training, refusal to recommend the resident to sit for the boards, or denial of a Certificate of Completion.

The Academic Appeal Process is intended to provide a formal, structured review (or, if appropriate, a post-termination review in cases of immediate dismissal due to patient safety concerns) to determine if a) the policies and procedures leading up to the disciplinary or adverse academic action were followed in a fair and reasonable manner, and b) there is reasonable basis for the decision by the Program Director. The appeals process provides a review of the Program Director’s decision; appeal is not a redetermination of the facts or for the reviewer to substitute his or her own determination of the outcome for that of the Program Director’s decision, unless specifically provided for in this policy.

Being placed on a Performance Improvement Plan (PIP) under GME Policy #610 – Academic Performance Improvement Actions is not appealable however the ultimate outcome of the PIP may result in such an adverse action as noted above (see GME Policy #620 Disciplinary and Adverse Actions). All appeals must be processed according to the following policies and procedures.

If a PIP includes an adverse academic action such as an extension of or repeating an academic year, the resident/fellow has the right to appeal the action. If a resident/fellow chooses to appeal the adverse academic action, commencement of the PIP will be placed on hold until the appeal process is complete.

The resident has the right to obtain legal counsel at any level of the Academic Appeal Process, but attorneys are not allowed at appeals hearings or at reviews. The University of Tennessee College of Medicine cannot compel participation in the Academic Appeal process by peers, medical staff, patients, or other witnesses, even if such is requested by a resident seeking review. Residents who have been dismissed by their Program Director will receive no remuneration during the pendency of the appeal under this policy.

Failure to file an appeal within the time period allowed forfeits any further appeal rights.
