- Marie Hatten, Assistant DCE (mhatten@uthsc.edu)
Marie Hatten, PT, DPT, OCS gave birth to Lawson on August 15, 2015. In order to spend more time with her son, Marie decided to work at UTHSC part-time, so she is now the Assistant Director of Clinical Education.

After 38 years of teaching, Ruth retired from UTHSC in June 2014 and was inducted into the TPTA Hall of Fame. She plans to continue consulting, contributing her time and resources to medical missions, and participating in speaking engagements. Ruth hopes to relocate to Ashville, North Carolina. See below for a personal note from Ruth.

Susan Appling, PT, DPT, PhD, MTC, OCS has moved with her family to Columbus, Ohio, after 22 years of service to UTHSC. She will continue to serve as adjunct faculty. Susan received the APTA Lucy Blair Service Award in 2014.

The name of our college has changed to College of Health Professions

Note from Ruth Mulvany
(Jan. 2015)

Life is good on this end! I love having the time to pursue personal interests. I have been doing a fair amount of traveling for fun but also for speaking engagements, seminars, meetings, and leadership roles in organizations around the country. Recently, I was involved in a national webinar which was a fun challenge to pull together. Also, a good bit of my time is currently devoted to being present in Arkansas to take care of my 90 y/o dad with chronic CHF, cognitive impairment and lethal stubbornness! The timing of my retirement was perfect and I am so blessed with being able to spend so much time with him this last 7 months. The effort means that we are able to keep him at home where he is aging in place, so to speak, for however long we can make it work. This experience is an affirmation of all I ever taught in 34 years of gerontology!

The one thing that I truly miss is the daily involvement with bright, wonderful, inspiring physical therapy students. There’s just no replacement for that.

Re: The future: There are so many ways to use our PT skills and experience for service. I have been asked to be involved with several PT programs, medical missions, and multiple local causes. I look forward to being able to get more involved once things settle down with my dad.

So, in summary, I continue to be grateful for all that I loved about my career and I look forward to all that the future and this phase of my life have in store for me!

Best wishes.

Ruth
