The University of Tennessee Health Science Center is conducting a 6 week pilot study in which healthy participants (age 18-35) will take a 30 minute footbath 3 times a week and vital signs will be recorded before and after the treatment. The footbath will contain a device that is called the Cellular Energy Transfer Science (CETS) Unit which is sold commercially and used in health spas.

If you are interested,

Please contact Marcy C. Purnell MSN, FNP-C at 901-848-0532

or email (mpurnell@uthsc.edu)