FALL 2010
ANNUAL REPORT
Dean’s Message

One of the first things we do when we encounter patients and want to get a sense of their overall health is to take their vital signs. While this may tell us if something is dramatically wrong, it’s not until we look more purposefully at details that we get a more accurate picture of our patients’ health.

The College of Nursing Annual Report provides a snapshot of our vital statistics, much like patients’ vital signs provide an overview of their health. Just as we have to look more purposefully at our patients to get a better picture of their health, I encourage you to look beyond the numbers in this report and consider how they represent the health of our college. I think you’ll make some interesting discoveries; let me point you in a few directions.

1. Two faculty are to be inducted into the American Academy of Nursing, see page 5. What percent of our faculty are fellows of this prestigious organization?
2. Minority student applicants make up 53% of our MSN-CNL entry program and 25% of our DNP advanced practice program, see page 8. How does this compare to other programs?
3. Scholarship funding has shown a dramatic increase in the last year. How is this possible in today’s economy? See page 9.
4. Is the recent spike in number of graduates an aberration? See page 10.

I ended last year’s message with the comment that, “Challenge and change can be a recipe for turmoil, uncertainty, and stress; it can also provide a foundation for creativity and innovation. We have chosen to make it the latter. As we plan for the future, we do so with the knowledge that we will be stronger and more vital than ever.” I believe this year’s Annual Report confirms that prediction, and we are looking forward to another year on this same pathway.

Answers to Questions in Dean’s Message Above:

1. Eight of the 40 faculty, or a remarkable 20%, are Fellows of the American Academy of Nursing (FAAN).
2. National data show that only a few historically black colleges and universities enroll more minority nursing students than does our college.
3. Thanks to the efforts of our faculty, the college has received several federal grants that have provided additional support for students, as well as program delivery.
4. No, the spike in graduates represents the re-activation of our professional entry program. As we complete the transition of the RN program to master’s entry and the advanced practice programs to the DNP, the number of graduates should approach 200.
5. The surge in endowment income is primarily due to activation of the Ruth Neil Murry Endowed Chair. These funds have helped offset some budget reductions and maintain the quality of our programs. Other new endowments have also contributed to the increase in our endowment income.
Now more than ever in today’s challenging economy, the University of Tennessee Health Science Center and the College of Nursing need the involvement of alumni. Giving time to serve on the alumni board, attending events that benefit the school, and offering financial support are all effective ways to support the college’s mission, vision and goals.

I am eager to begin my new role with the Alumni Association and can honestly say that giving back a little of what I have received from the university is a pleasure. The Alumni Association Board of Directors works very closely with the dean and other university staff to generate ideas for strategic planning and ways in which all alumni can work with the faculty and students of the college.

This annual report contains vital information about the future of the college, as well as the challenges and opportunities that arise as we strive to achieve our goals. This is a very exciting time as nursing roles expand and become more autonomous. The College of Nursing will continue to be on the cutting edge in the preparation of nurse leaders who will mold the future of nursing.

I would also like to take this opportunity to extend a personal invitation for you to participate in the 2011 Alumni Day on May 20 at the Hilton Memphis. This program presents a wonderful opportunity to network with peers, show support for the College of Nursing and its future nurse leaders. This year’s presentation will provide participants a chance to see examples of the exciting international work being carried out by students, faculty and alumni across the globe. Among the highlights will be reports from England, Peru, Africa, Mexico and beyond.

Let’s all remember to support our UTHSC College of Nursing!

On June 24, the UT Board of Trustees approved Interim UT President Jan Simek’s recommendation that Steve J. Schwab, MD, be named chancellor for the University of Tennessee Health Science Center.

The day before, Dr. Simek had recommended Dr. Schwab to head the Memphis-based UT Health Science Center at a meeting of the Executive and Compensation Committee in conjunction with the Annual Meeting of the UT Board of Trustees in Knoxville.

Dr. Schwab has served as UTHSC’s interim chancellor since Oct. 1, 2009. He simultaneously served as executive dean for the UTHSC College of Medicine, largest of the Health Science Center’s six colleges, and chair of UTMG, the largest of the UTHSC faculty practice plans. A national search was conducted to fill the chancellor post.

“Throughout the search process, Dr. Schwab demonstrated his commitment to thinking strategically, responding openly, and acting in a collaborative and decisive fashion,” Dr. Simek said. “His management skills coupled with his ability to innovate and build strong, mutually beneficial bonds with internal and external partners are tremendous assets that he brings to his role as chancellor.

“Under Dr. Schwab’s leadership, UTHSC will continue to expand its outreach and service to the community, to increase its research capacity, and to sustain its long-term commitment to educating competent caring health care professionals to serve the region and the global community.”

Dr. Schwab joined UTHSC as the first-ever executive dean for the UT College of Medicine in July 2006. In this role he took on administrative responsibility for the Health Science Center’s three College of Medicine campuses in Memphis, Knoxville and Chattanooga. In 2007, he assumed direct responsibility for the College of Medicine Memphis campus. As chancellor, Dr. Schwab will transition out of the executive dean role, and a national search will be conducted for his successor in that post.

“It is an honor to be selected to serve as the leader for the UT Health Science Center team,” Dr. Schwab said. “Our faculty, staff and students have many reasons to be proud of our legacy and optimistic about our future as we move forward to fulfill our mission in education, research, clinical care and public service.”

Prior to joining UTHSC, Dr. Schwab served as interim dean and chief clinical officer of the Medical College of Georgia, where he was also a Regents Professor and chairman of the Department of Medicine. Before that, from 1985 to 2003, he was at Duke University where he rose to become professor and vice chairman of medicine, as well as holding seats on the hospital and practice plan boards. He has held national board positions in both the private and public sectors and has been extensively funded by the NIH as a principal investigator. Dr. Schwab is internationally recognized in the field of renal disease with more than 150 refereed publications and five books to his credit.

History was made earlier this year when Noma Bennett Anderson, PhD, was named the new dean for the College of Allied Health Sciences. Dr. Anderson is the first African-American to be named as a dean in the 99-year history of the UT Health Science Center. She began her role in July on the main UTHSC campus in Memphis.

Prior to coming to UTHSC, Dr. Anderson was the immediate past chair and a professor in the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders at Florida International University (FIU) in Miami. She was previously the dean in the School of Health Sciences at FIU for five years. Dr. Anderson was also a chair for 10 years and on the faculty for 16 years in the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders at Howard University in Washington, D.C. She was on the Board of Directors for the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association for three years and served as president in 2007.

Dr. Anderson holds a PhD in speech-language pathology from the University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pa., and an MS in speech pathology from Emerson College in Boston, Mass. She received her BA in speech pathology and audiology from Hampton Institute in Hampton, Va.
Two Nursing Professors to be Inducted into Prestigious Academy

Two UT Health Science Center nursing professors are among a distinguished list of 116 nurse leaders selected by the American Academy of Nursing to be inducted as fellows into the organization.

Carol Thompson, DNP, APN, BC, professor and acute care option coordinator, and Mona Wicks, PhD, RN, professor and associate dean of research, will become fellows of the Academy at its 37th Annual Meeting and Conference on November 13, 2010, in Washington, D.C.

This induction ceremony will mark the largest class of inductees since 2002.

“Selection for membership in the Academy is one of the most prestigious honors in the field of nursing,” said Academy President Catherine L. Gilliss, DNsC, RN, FAAN.

“Academy fellows are truly experts. The academy fellowship represents the nation’s top nurse researchers, policymakers, scholars, executives and practitioners.”

Selection criteria includes evidence of significant contributions to nursing and health care, and each nominee must be sponsored by two current academy fellows. The new fellows are chosen by a panel, and selection is based, in part, on the extent to which nominees’ nursing careers influence health policies and health care delivery for the benefit of all Americans. New fellows will be eligible to use the credentials FAAN (Fellow of the American Academy of Nursing) after their November induction.

Outstanding Preceptor

The college recognized Muthiah P. Muthiah, MD, FCCP, associate professor in pulmonary medicine, as its 2010 Outstanding Graduate Clinical Preceptor during Alumni Day in May.

Having served several years as a preceptor for Acute Care Nurse Practitioners in the intensive care unit, Dr. Muthiah receives praise from students and fellow faculty alike.

“He consistently challenges them [students] to higher performance; they achieve with excitement,” stated Carol Thompson, DNP, acute care option coordinator, who received the award on behalf of Dr. Muthiah at Alumni Day.

Fall 2010
Strategic Plan: College of Nursing 2015 Goals

Be internationally recognized for our integration of teaching, practice, research and outreach missions that unite professional entry through postdoctoral programs with learning experiences that emphasize the interprofessional delivery of quality health care.

Academic Goals:
A. Conduct outcome evaluations and ongoing process improvements of UTHSC CON 2010 model of graduate nursing education.
B. Provide national leadership with outcome data from CNL and DNP students and graduates.

Research Goals:
A. Create a research center of excellence that supports faculty research and PhD student training.
B. Establish a national presence as a research-intensive College of Nursing.

Practice Goals:
A. Demonstrate the unique contribution of advance practice nursing in traditional and innovative care delivery systems.
B. Afford students across all programs clinical practice sites to incorporate knowledge and skills under faculty modeling and supervision.
C. Promote the integration of scholarship across all faculty practice sites.

Outreach & Globalization Goals:
A. Strengthen communication with internal and external key stakeholders.
B. Maximize existing international faculty and student exchange experiences.

Golden Graduates — Class of 1960

Members of the Class of 1960 celebrated their 50th reunion and were honored as Golden Graduates on May 21 during the College of Nursing’s Alumni Day luncheon.

Passing the Gavel

Madge Saba (left) has completed her years of service as president of the UTHSC College of Nursing Alumni Association. During the College of Nursing Alumni Day on May 21, she was recognized for her leadership of alumni and devotion to the college. She also passed the responsibilities of president on to Sam Maceri (right).

2011 Marks 100 Years
Participate in the Celebration

As UTHSC approaches its centennial anniversary in 2011, the university is planning a variety of special activities and items including a lecture series and Web site, coffee table book, commemorative gala on Friday, September 16, 2011, and a 5-K run-walk on Sunday, September 18, 2011.

In January, the centennial book will arrive in the UTHSC Bookstore on the Memphis campus (930 Madison Avenue, Plaza Level); however, the book can also be purchased through the bookstore Web site – www.uthsc. bncollege.com. The beautifully photographed, oversized coffee table book is priced at $60 but the advance, discount price is $50 (plus applicable taxes and shipping [$6.95 for the first book, $1.95 for each additional book shipped to the same address]).

Be part of the centennial celebration by contributing historical photos, personal reflections, or artifacts you may have from your time at UTHSC for inclusion on the Web site or in special campus displays. Please contact Richard Nollan in the Health Sciences Historical Collections at (901) 448-6053, rnollan@uthsc.edu.

In Memoriam

1955
Eleanor M. Richards of Lafayette, La., died Nov. 16, 2009.

1958
Sally Stadter, PhD, RN, Naples, Fla., died March 14, 2010. Dr. Stadter (formerly Sally Ruth Miller) received her BS in nursing from UTHSC, her MA in psychiatric mental health nursing from New York University in 1963, and her PhD degree in 1974. From 1973 into the early 1980s she taught psychiatric nursing in the NYU College of Nursing. She married John M. Stadter, Jr., in 1976. After his death in 2003, she was an enthusiastic and active docent at the Naples Museum of Art.

1989
Brenda Lee Howery Cannon died on July 15, 2010. Brenda was a faithful member of the Lord’s Tabernacle Holiness Church. In 1983, Brenda married Christopher Cannon, Sr., and then graduated from UTHSC in 1989, upon which, she became the first nurse of the church, which was the start of today’s LTHC Health and Wellness Ministry. She dedicated 21 years of her life to serving others, most of which was spent as an Intensive Care Nurse at Methodist South Hospital. Brenda genuinely loved her job, but there was nothing she valued more than being a mother. Her four sons were her life and her greatest achievement of all.
As donors, you are truly our partners. Your support is vital to the College of Nursing and helps to provide an outstanding educational experience for our students, as well as support our efforts to attract and retain the best and the brightest faculty members. Your investment in the college advances groundbreaking basic, clinical and translational research on the most pressing health care issues we face today, leading us to better treatments that benefit untold thousands of people around the world. We thank you for your gifts and ask you to continue to support the college through your generous philanthropy. To make your next gift to the UTHSC College of Nursing, please visit www.uthsc.edu/give. UTHSC Graduates Hundreds of Health Care Professionals

On Friday, May 28, the University of Tennessee Health Science Center graduated 648 health care professionals. Of those new graduates 36 were from the College of Nursing.

With more than 5,100 alumni, our College of Nursing has prepared about 2,000 nurses now practicing in Tennessee and is a nationally recognized change agent in nursing education. The college is the leading producer of graduate nurses and nursing faculty for the region.

The graduation ceremony was held at FedEx Forum in downtown Memphis. Steve J. Schwab, MD, then interim chancellor of UT Health Science Center, presided over the ceremony. Jan Simek, interim president of the University of Tennessee, conferred the degrees.

Harry Jacobson, MD, former Vanderbilt Vice Chancellor for Health Affairs and former CEO of the Vanderbilt Health System, delivered the commencement address to the graduates and their families. His remarks were titled, “Health Care is a Team Sport.” Dr. Jacobson, a nephrologist and health care entrepreneur, retired from Vanderbilt in 2009 after more than 12 years as CEO.

The 648 graduates were from all six of the UT Health Science Center’s colleges: 178 from the College of Allied Health Sciences; 73 from the College of Dentistry; 43 from the College of Graduate Health Sciences; 143 from the College of Medicine; 36 from the College of Nursing; and 175 from the College of Pharmacy.
